ELLIOTT'S FINE SHOOTING.

BE GRASSES DS OUT OF 100 BIRDS AT MARION.

Faiford Leads for Half of the Match, but Misses 10 of the Last 50. The Kansas City Crack Again Makes a Run of 29. Crowds Watch and Cheer the Work. After the work performed yesterday by J. A.

R. Elliott of Kansas City in the second of three matches at 100 live birds each with E. D. Fulford of Utica he may well lay claim to the title of champion. He won by a score of 95 to 87 kills, and of the five birds lost he missed only one, the remainder falling dead out of bounds after being hit hard. The grounds at Marion, N. J., contained a much larger crowd than on the preceding day, and visitors were well repaid for their trip.

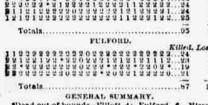

Elliott was sent first to the traps on the toss of a coin. He bowied over a right quarterer with his first parrel. Fulford's first bird, a driver, was also sent under with the first barrel. Eiliott's second bird, a left quarterer, was sent to the ground, and, upon being retrieved, flew beyond the boundary, where it died. His ninth and twentieth birds, both twisting right quarfell dead out of bounds, while Fulford only missed his thirteenth bird, which gave him an advantage of two birds on the first twenty-five. Fulford's good kills up to this time were his ninth and nineteenth birds. The former was a left quarterer, brought down by his second barrel near the boundary. The latter, a right quartering towerer, was killed in pretty much the same man-Elliott's fourteenth and twenty-fourth birds, both right quarterers, were brought down in superb style, the former with two barrels and the latter with one barrel.

Elliott gained on the next twenty-five birds, losing only his thirty-second bird, a right quar-terer, which fell dead out of bounds. Fulford's thirty-fourth bird, a driver, fell dead out of bounds, and he missed his thirty-seventh bird, a towering left quarterer, which gave him only an advantage of a single bird. He brought down eighth bird, a right quarterer, the thirty-seventh, a left quartering driver, and thirty-eighth, a towerer, the latter especially being a fine kill.

The Outgoing L. A. W. Board Cleans off

The members of the National Assembly of the League of American Wheelmen left for their respective homes yesterday. The various amendments made to the constitution of the A. W. aroused considerable discussion among wheelmen generally. The appointment of leorge G. Gideon of Philadelphia as Chairman of the Racing Board is the most satisfactory appointment that President Willison could have made. A Sun reporter, in discussing the racing situation with ex-Chairman Raymond of the Racing Board, was informed that it was likely that the make-up of the Board would remain as it is at present pending the appointment of a new man from this city. Chairman Gideon will likely consult with Chief Consul Potter of the New York State division regarding the appointment of a man to replace Howard E. Raymond, The next Racing Board will at once communicate with the league clubs respecting sanctions for dates on the national circuit. The action of the L. A. W. National Assembly in allowing the Racing Board to exact fees of $10 for each meet sanctioned on the national circuit will result in a large revenue to the L. A. W. Last season forty-three clubs held meetings on the national circuit, and this year the number is expected to increase. The enactment of rules permitting the Chairman of the Racing Board to discharge the expenses of his office by revenue derived from clubs will result in his employing a cierk and stenographer to assist him in the discharge of his duties.

advantage of a single bird. He brought down his twenty-eighth and fortieth birds, a twisting driver and right quartering incomer respectively in a way which called forth applause. Elliott also came in for his share of the latter by bringing down at long range his twenty-eighth bird, a right quarterer, the thirty-seventh, a left quartering driver, and thirty-seventh seventh as the factor of the seventh sev Chairman. Mr. Gideon has an Eastern man in view, who is neither a racing man nor connected in any manner with the trade, but his acceptance of the position is in doubt. It is stated on excellent authority that the application of William F. Murphy of Brooklyn for the position of official referee will not be entercained.

The Executive Committee, consisting of Messes, Willison, Perkins, and Morrison, have decided to investigate the bulletin matter before the league meeting on March 6, and on that date try to present some scheme on the subject.

Resolved, That this meeting make the following suggestions expressive of the opinion of the meeting to guide the Executive Committee in stranging for the contests, but leaving the whole matter fully in the power of the committee to alter or monify as in their judgment the circumstances may demand.

First—The expenses of the trip shall be paid out of the treasury of the L.C. A. A. A. and shall include only the actual expenses of the journey to England and return and necessary board and travelling expenses while in England.

Second—The manager and trainer shall be selected by the Executive Committee.

Third—The events recommended are the regular events of the annual Oxford-Cambridge competition, with the half-mile run. 220-yard dash, 220-yard hurdle, and pole vault added.

Fourth—The substitutes of the team shall consist of the third, fourth, and tifth men in the respective events. The committee shall choose from these in the order named to fill all vacancies.

Fifth—The month of July is recommended as the events. The committee shall choose from these in the order named to fill all varancies. Fifth—The month of July is recommended as the time most sultable for holding the contest.

Mr. Wade stated that he understood that the University of Pennsylvania would offer a motion at the annual meeting of the intercollegists Track. Whietic Association in New York on Saturday, that the association, as a whole challenge the English universities to come to this country for a grand international meet, but he thought, from conferring with other leading members of the association, that they would vote the motion down if it were made. Mr. Wade said that he regarded this meeting as the most important in years, as the abolition of the mile walk, the addition of the two-mile run, and the innovation of holding all the preliminary heats in the morning, changed the entire association's aspect.

BASEBALL MEN BUSY

PLAYERS SIGNING WITH BROOKLYN CLUB.

Fonts Expects to Take Twenty Men South
-- Mike Griffin the Probable Captain-Jim Mutrie Wants to Organize a Team to Piny Hera When the New Yorks Are Awny. Manager Foutz of the Brooklyn Baseball Club busily preparing for active service. He is constantly on the move signing his players, and by the time the team is ready to sail for Savannah he will be able to carry with him twenty men red hot for regular positions on the nine. The men who have signed contracts to date are: Kennedy, Lucid, Daub, and Gumbert, pitchers; Con Dailey, Grim, and Burrell, catchers: La Chance, first base; Daly, second base; Shindle and Mulvey, third basemen; Hines, Anderson Burns, and Tredway, outfielders, and Shoch, whose official position is designated as "general Manager Foutz received Shindle's signed con tract when he arrived at Eastern Park at noon yesterday. Shortly afterward Foutz conferred with Tom Daly and Con Dailey, and the second baseman and catcher put down their signatures to contracts. Foutz called upon Ed Stein in the to contracts. Four called upon Ed Stein in the morning, and the latter expressed his willingness to sign, according to Manage: Four; but he did not happen to have Lis contract with him. This practically leaves only two-men unsigned, Corcoran and Griffin. Tredway and Daub sent in their signed contracts on Tuesday. Corcoran, it is expected, is hanging off for more salary; and Griffin usually signs when it pleases him to.

corroran, it is expected, is anighted as a serior salary; and Griffin usually signs when it pleases him to.

It is not improbable that when Griffin signs his name it will be to a contract not only to play centre field, but to captain the Hrosklyn team as well. Griffin is, perhaps, the most popular player on the team, and would make an ideal leader. The men like him, and would favor him for Captain in case Foutz found himself unable to perform the duties. Foutz does not like to lay down the bat just yet. He is too old a war horse to give in easily, but it will be no surprise if he does not play this season. Foutz, however, says that he has been well all winter, and is feeling particularly good just now. He intends to play ball on the coming Southern trip, and if at the beginning of the season he feels well enough, and is able to play first base to his own satisfaction, he will take the field in person. However, if La Chance plays first base as he did last season, Foutz will not stand in his way. So that it depends not only upon Foutz's health, but upon La Chance's playing, whether Griffin will be made Captain if Foutz does not play, Griffin was acting Captain last year. This year Brooklyn cranks may take off their lasts to Capt. Mike Griffin. Even if he does not play, Foutz will surely continue to manage the Brooklyns.

Ite has great hopes of the Brooklyns' success this year. In fact, he thinks that they will surprise people.

Twenty players in all will go South. Manager Foutz will thus have men enough to put two full teams in the field, giving opportunity for regular practice when exhibition games with other clubs are not being played. The programme of the team is to go direct to Savannah, leaving New York on Feb. 28, the men having been ordered to report on Feb. 23 and 27. The team will remain at Savannah until about March 20, playing games with the Washingtons, who are to locate at Charleston. The Brooklyns will also make trips to Augusta and Atlanta, and will gradually work North after April 1, playing games at Norfolk, Newport News, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Richmond, and other cities. No games will be played at Eastern Park prior to the opening of the regular season.

The Brooklyn management do not fear that they will lose Gumbert. They have heard nothing official on the subject from the Cincinnati Club. President Byrne said that if Mack and Ewing made any agreement concerning gumbert, Mack acted without the consent of the Pittsburgh Club. Mr. Byrne says that he has been so faformed by the officials of that club. After signing his contract, Con Dailey left Brooklyn for Woonsocket, where his father died on Tuesday.

"Truttuful James" Mutrie, the old manager

Brooklyn for Woonsocket, where his father died on Tuesday.

"Trutiful James" Mutrie, the old manager of the New Yorks, intends to get back into baseball. He has a scheme that, under certain circumstances, should prove a success, and the way his brain is working is simply astonishing. Jim says he will try to organize a local semi-professional team to play at the Polo grounds while the New Yorks are on the road. He claims to have already secured a number of promising young bloods, and if he receives any encouragement he promises to develop some men whose services will be in demand before the coming season ends.

The ex-manager called upon President Freedman of the New York Club yesterday and unfolded his scheme. He was willing to make any equitable arrangement, and the club President thought so well of the plan that he told James to call again in a day or two for a definite answer. Mutrie, when seen by a SUN reporter, said:

"I think I can make my scheme quite a go. If nite answer. Mutrie, when seen by a SUN reporter, said:

"I think I can make my scheme quite a go. If I can work up a strong team and arrange games with good attractions. I'm sure the public would patronize me. When the New Yorks are away from home there is really no amusement for the cranks, and I believe I can provide a good thing. Of course, popular prices would prevail, and I should try to arrange a game for every day. Then, if the New Yorks' games were bulletined on the grounds, it would prove an additional feature. I called upon President Freedman today and told him what I wanted to do. He will give me an answer in a day or two, so that I will day and told him what I wanted to do. He will give me an answer in a day or two, so that I will know just what to do."

Mutrie is looking like a winner. He has not touched liquor in a long time, and is anxious to retrieve his lost laurels. His scheme has been attempted several times before with dibious success, but as he is one of the greatest hustlers in the business he may be able to make the idea. a "go." SURPRISE AT HARVARD.

Prof. Ames Thinks That the Vote of the Faculty on Football Was Only a Suggestion. Bosrox, Feb. 20,-If a bomb had exploded on the Harvard College campus last evening it could hardly have caused more excitement among the students than the announcement of the faculty's adverse opinion on football. Prof. Ames, Chairman of the Athletic Committee, said:

"I think it would be hardly becoming in me at this time to make any statement in regard to the vote. I think, though, that the vote is little core than a suggestion. It is not designed to

This will be held within a week, probably, when final action will be taken. I would not care to say what I think this action will be."

Both Capt. Brewer and ex-Capt. Emmons of the cleven were surprised at the vote, and both seemed to think it was a triffe hasty. Mr. Em-seemed to think it was a triffe hasty. Mr. Emmons said:

"I am sure that no full investigation has been made by the faculty. We have gone into a minute investigation in regard to the alleged brutality, and have a complete report ready to submit to the Athletic Committee. It has not been submitted, however, as the committee has not met recently. I do not think the faculty fully understend the real nature of the game, and they have not looked into the matter carefully enough to warrant such a vote.

"I look upon it, though, as merely the expression of the faculty opinion, and I hope to see the Athletic Committee treat this important matter as carefully as it deserves. It would be too bad to stop the game now, when we are getting it at its proper standard, and just when we are getting on the right road to winning. I don't think it is abolished yet, however."

T. Jefferson Coolidge, a member of the Board of Overseers of Harvard College, when asked to-day for the opinion and probable action of the Board of Overseers on the faculty's football manifest, said:

"Heyond the fact that the overseers are much interested in the matter, and that it will probably be brought up at the next meeting. I can say but little about the feeling of the board.

"Personally I am not in favor of abolishing football. It ranks high In college sports and need not necessarily have the features which make it objectionable.

"I cannot say to a certainty whether or not the overseers would have final jurisdiction in the matter, but their opinion would have great weight, and might amount to a practical settlement of the matter."

WHAT FOOTBALL MEN THINK.

The Action of the Harvard Faculty Causes Much Apprehension.

The suggestion of the Harvard faculty that intercollegiato football contests be abolished at the Cambridge university created a sensation among local college men yesterday. Those who were in a position to know claimed that Harvard's Athletic Committee would not adopt such a radical reform, but that probably Harvard's games this fall would be restricted to college grounds only. There were many persons, however, who believed that the faculty's "suggestion" was merely a polite way of informing gestion" was merely a polite way of informing the Athletic Committee that the game must be abolished. The faculty's action, coming so soon after President Eliot's adverse opinion, has caused a feeling here that Harvard will have no eleven at all next fall.

It was argued by scores of college football enthusiasts that if the rule makers had jumped in with needed reforms immediately after last season closed, such action would have served as a baim to the outraged feelings of the various college faculities and no radical action by the latter bodies would have resulted. It is a bit late, but if the rule makers can get together at once, they may be the means of saving the great sport from an untimely end.

The Football Question at Yale. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 20.-The action of the Harvard faculty in its opposition to football has been pretty generally discussed among the undergraduates of Yale to-day, and the opinion is that the vote was passed in order to support President Eliot in his stand against intercollegiate athletics. The Yale faculty decline to discuss the matter, and refer all questions of an athletic nature to Prof. E. L. Richards, who is spokesman of that body in affairs of this kind. Prof. Richards is ill, and it is impossible at this time to get his opinion on the action of Harvard. It is not generally believed that football will be abolished at Harvard, but it is thought that a compromise will be effected, so that the annual yale-Harvard contest can take place. The Yale faculty have taken no action in football matters since the first meeting after the Yale-Harvard game at Springfield, when an attempt to legislate against the Princeton team was tabled. The Yale faculty seems disposed to continue its policy of the past, and allow the students to arrange their athletic contests as it suits them, so long as college duties are not seriously interfered with. athletic nature to Prof. E. CUP COMMITTEE TO MEET.

Special Meeting of the N. Y. Yacht Club Called for Monday. There will be an important meeting of the merica's Cup Committee at the office of Chairman James D. Smith, 42 Broad street, at 12

'clock noon, on Monday next. The object of the meeting is to take action as to the number of the crew to be carried by each yacht in the coming races for the America's cup, and to decide upon the total number of men to be allowed on board when the yachts are measured.
The action of the committee will be of great

The action of the committee will be of great importance, as the number of men aboard when a yacht is measured affects the load-wrater line, which is one of the essential elements in making up the official rate insential elements in making up the official rate insential elements in making up the official rate insential elements in the hardward been decided that the yachts will be measured with crews aboard, and the decision to be reached on Monday by the committee will probably prove interesting to yachtsmen on both sides of the Atlantic.

A special meeting of the New York Yacht Club has been called for next Monday evening to ratify the changes to the club's constitution. by-laws and racing rules passed at the annual meeting of the club.

senior Captain of the club, presided. The treasurer's report was very satisfactory. as was that of the secretary and Regatta Committee. After the usual amount of routine bustness, the proposed changes in the racing rules of the club were brought forward by John F. Lovejoy, Chairman of the club's regatta. After a short discussion, the amendments to the club's racing rules, as outlined in Sunday's Sun, were all passed, including the new short courses, which are to be sailed over two or three times, after the English fashiou. The classification of the open yachts was also changed from a load water line to racing length basis. The prizes won in the various regattas of the club lastycar were on exhibition, and George A. Cormack, on behalf of Miss Elizabeth A. J. Beach of Hartford, Conn., presented the club with a $500 cup for achooners, to be raced for on a date yet to be fixed by the Regatta Committee. The cup is a memorial one, and is given in honor of the late Commodore of the club, Caldwell H. Colt. It was announced that a number of new 21-footers would be built for next year's racing, notably by Royal Phelps Carroll, Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., and Raiph N. Ellis. It was also stated that at least six of the new thirty-four raters were either ordered or under course of construction.

The Secretary in his report stated that 62 Lovejoy, Chairman of the club's regatta. After

The annual meeting and election of the Middle States Regatta Association was held last night at the Hotel Marlborough. Nine clubs were represented by delegates. After the transaction of the usual routine business the report of Secretary Ballantyne, as delegate to the convention of rowing assodelegate to the convention of rowing asso-ciations held in this city last month, was pre-sented. He reported that the rules as recom-mended by the Middle States Associa-tion had been accepted by the confer-ence and subsequently adopted by the National Association. A resolution that the Middle States Regatta Association formally adopt and approve the new rules, and row all its races under them in the future, was then unanimously adopted. This makes no change in the rules of the Middle States Associ-ation as they already are identical with those change in the rules of the Middle States Association, as they already are identical with those of the National Association.

A committee composed of John A. Dempsey of the Atalanta Boat Club, A. B. Hopper of the Passaie Boat Club, and John L. Pallantyne of the Arthur Kull Association was then appointed to obtain and submit a design for a flag for the association.

The election of officers for the coming year then followed, and the former officers were all unanimously redected. They are as follows:

CARRIAGES SELL HIGH.

Congressman Sibley's Lot in Domand at the American Horse Exchange. Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania sold : number of carriages and pleasure traps at the American Horse Exchange yesterday. There was somewhat of a mystery regarding the identity of the seller at first. Frank M. Ware, the manager, refused to state who he was, and the advertisements only announced that the carriages were "the property of a gentleman." The vehicles brought good prices, but possibly the receipts might have been better if it had been known they were owned by Mr. Sibley.

A carriage dealer in the throng examining the carriages before the sale was the first to unearth the secret. All in that trade are keen students of heraldry, for when a new man sets up a car riage he usually wants a family crest to go with it. It is the task of the dealers to choose appropriate devices and texts. On the panels of the vehicles consigned by the aunknown was a phienix, azure, with the motto "Esse quam

"That's 'Honest' Joe Sibley's crest," said the carriage dealey, and the discovery was quickly noised about the mart.

It was W. D. Grand's first important sale since his secession from Tattersalls. He arrived from Toronto at noon and went from the train straight to the Exchange. In the crowd which faced, but when the saie began were Joseph J. straight to the Exchange. In the crowd which faced him when the sale began were Joseph J. O'Donnhue, Jr., Charles Bates of the Westchester County Club, John H. Shults, Jr., the tandem whip: W. H. Gray, James A. Renwick, W. H. Burr, Frank Fox, Charles Pfizer, Jr., of the Essex County Hunt: James Heffernan, Guy Ward, S. Harris, Thomas Kirkland, who has just returned from Hot Springs, Ark: Frank Fergueson, James McClenahan of the New York Driving Club, and James B. Dill of the Orange Riding Club.

Just returned from Hot Springs, Ark: Frank Fergueson, James McClenahan of the New York Driving Club, and James B. Dill of the Orange Riding Club.

The Sibley carriages were sold first. They were a brougham, cabriolet, spider phaeton, body break, and "C" spring victoria, all built by Healey & Co., and a runabout and cross-seat break the latter built by Pond. The body color of all was black, with the running gears in blue or brown, and the upholsteribg throughout was in light Bedford cords. The brougham was bought by W.E.B. Stokes for 8500; the coabriolet brought $405 and the body break $600, both going to C. G. Greaves of Boston. The Markert Livery Stable baid $410 for the solder phaeton and the "C" apring victoria, a magnificent vehicle for state occasions, was secured by William E. Dean, the Harlem livery man, for $325, it was the bargain of the sole, James A. Renwick paid $185 for the ranabout, and the cross-seat break went to M. Martin for $675. Various lots of four-in-hand, coach, brougham, and tandem harness, also consigned by Mr. Sibley, were sold next, and brought fair prices. A number of carriages sent in by different owners brought prices fully up to the value. To close the sale eighteen bend of coach, brougham, and general harness horses were disposed of for high average prices.

It was runored at the summer in Europe.

Big Purses for Harness Racers. BUFFALO, Feb. 20.-The Buffalo Driving Park Association will hang up $65,000 for the harness racers during the two weeks' grand circuit meeting here next August. There are thirty races on the card, the chief events being the

2:15 and 2:20 trotting for which purses of $5,000

each are offered. The other events have purses of $2,000, with four exceptions. Entries will close March 20. Despite the constitutional amendment foroldding betting and pool selling the association believes that patrons will rally to the support of the sport, and that with big entry lists and liberal purses the meeting will prove a financial Bildicoss, Nominators are given liberal terms, no payments being due until the night before the race. Nominators may name one or more eligible horses, provided they are owned and controlled by them at the time or closing the entries, to be carried along as one entry until June 1, when the prospective starter must be designated; or nominators may indicate as many of these originally named as they may elect; sitch theresiter will be considered as separate entries unjess declared out as required. Moneys divides—fity, twomty-five, lifteen, and ten per cent, of purses. All races to be best three in the inharmes, excepting for the two-year-olds, which will be best two in three. The association reserves the privilege of declaring off any purses not filling satisfactorily, and the right of substituting class races, to be announced later on. ments being due until the night before the race.
